IN MEMORIAM.

In loving remembrance of my dear husband, J. M. Richards, who died two years ago today:

I will go to his grave
Where his spirit has fled,
And beneath the sod
He is laid with the dead.
Where the heart that loved me
Is turning to clay,
And in Calvary's cold dew
He is passing away.

By his loving wife,
J. M. RICHARDS.

About Women

WOMAN THE WORLD OVER.

MRS. LUIS POND of Dedham, Me., has carried on alone her farm since the death of her husband, two years ago. She uses a Hereford bull to do plowing and hauling, and works him harnessed to a cart like a horse. When she goes to market the bull is hitched to the wagon, and she jumps in and rides, guiding him by ropes running to a ring in the nose.

IF REPORT is true, Miss Florence Pullman is one of the most richly paid women in the country for her labors. She is the daughter of George M. Pullman and is said to draw a salary of $10,000 a year from the Pullman company for naming cars. Miss Pullman evidences a preference for names which sound euphoniously. Many of the names of the cars are of Spanish origin. They are the names of countries, rivers, historic towns, battle fields, and flowers. Such names as Guatemala, Brazil, Peru, Chile, and other Central American states are frequently seen. There is a fine discrimination displayed in the naming of cars for special service. For example, dining cars are, in most instances, named after celebrated cooks, as Savarin, and the cooks of famous men and women. Smoking cars are given names which suggest luxury, as Italian, Khehiv, and Muslin. Observation cars are called Yellowstone, Yosemite, Appalachian, Watkins Glen, and Niagara.

MISS KINGSLEY, the English explorer, has returned in safety from her travels in the Cameroons, where she ascended mountains 10,000 feet high in search of life. The working classes of West Africa are, however, greatly pained by the announcement that she is going out again. It appears that her fishing expeditions require the services of porters in regions where they are liable to be seized and promptly eaten at every stopping place, and where Miss Kingsley's eloquence is their only protection. Miss Kingsley mentions cheerfully that in the Fange country she did not come across a single burial place.

The most delightful social ever given by the Ladies Aid Society of the Ninth Street Christian Church occurred on Thursday evening at the church. It was called a birthday party.

Invitations were issued, and a small kick attached to a card, description of the affair, sent to members and friends of the church. These cards requested their presence and return of the kick with a cent for each year of their life. A large audience was the result, and after a fine program, refreshments were served by the ladies.

Mrs. Goodwin, Mrs. Cooper and Miss Goodwin will not receive on Tuesday, the 21st, on account of illness in the family.

Miss Rose Herzog gave a reception last night, at her home on Seventh street, in honor of Miss Myers, of Baltimore, which was attended by a large gathering of young people.

Miss Beale Durfee of East Capitol street returned to Wellesley College this morning.

A very pleasant entertainment was given by Miss Mox Reardon at her residence, No. 15 K street northwest, on Sunday evening in honor of her friend, Miss Dot, Bremer of Virginia.

Games, music and recitations were enjoyed. Among those present were Misses Dot, Bremer, Maud Carr, Christina McKee, Ethel Carr, Jennie Lowdermilk, Myrtle Cook, Julia Carr, May Reardon and Messrs. Harvey J. Clark, Downen, Bright, Zoult, Solomon, E. Clark, Galt, Whitford, Woodward, Reardon, Kirk, Gilbert, Wheeler and Reardon.

The company was entertained by Mr. Aaron Stern, who gave his well-known imitation of Wilton Lackaye as Svengali. Miss Goodwin sang some popular songs with remarkable pathos. The two most popular young ladies of the evening were Miss Goodwin and her guest, Miss Myers, and a very enjoyable evening was spent.

Among those who called were the Misses Strauss, Loeb, Strasburger, and Gusdorf, Messrs. Leo Baum, Harry Wolf, Sol Meyers, A. Stern, J. Frank, M. and A. Strasburger, S. Reizenstein, S. Kaufman, A. Gusdorf, M. Benedict of Denver, Col., and many others.

West Baltimore had a pretty home wedding at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Miss Belle Daniel, daughter of the late Morris Daniel, No. 1321 West Fayette street, Baltimore, was married to Mr. Bernard U. Behrend of Baltimore, formerly of Washington.

Rev. A. Kaiser of the Eotaw Place Temple officiated, and Miss Mary Oppenheimer played the wedding march. The bride, who was becomingly attired in a brown crepon traveling costume, was given away by her uncle, Mr. Max J. Lissauer of New York.

There was a reception from 5 until 7 o'clock, after which the bride and groom left for a tour of the South. On returning they will live at No. 2233 Druid Hill.

THE HOUSEWIFE SPEAKS.

ON NO account keep the soiled linen in the sleeping apartment, for it is very unwholesome and tends to taint the air which is inhaled during the night.

—0—

NEVER allow a pot plant to remain in the same position for a long time; turn it around frequently, so that all the leaves and fronds will equally benefit by the air.

If a severe frost comes on there can be no better protection than a sheet of newspaper placed between the glass and the plants.

TO preserve eggs for winter use, pour six quarts of boiling water on to three pounds of time, one ounce of cream of tartar, and half a pound of salt. Leave until cold, and then pour it over the fresh eggs, which are carefully arranged in jars, and see that there are none uncovered. Tie the jars over with thick paper, and stand on a shelf in a cool larder or storeroom.

—0—

WHEN there is a contagious illness in a house all the linen which has been used by the sick person of which has been used in his room, ought to be thoroughly disinfected before being sent to the wash, otherwise there is great danger of the illness being carried to others. It should be wrung out in a solution of carbolic acid and water.
